

Our Story

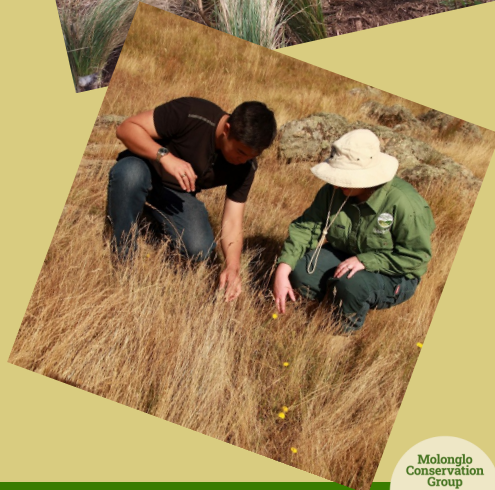

We are a grassroots organisation working with local communities to rebalance nature for a stronger, more resilient future. We combine evidence-based practices and people power to protect and conserve our natural environment.

The Molonglo Conservation Group was formed in 2003 with the principal objective of developing the Molonglo Catchment Strategy. We now work to implement this strategy.

We see our role in the region as being both strategic and multi-jurisdictional. We support and collaborate with Landcare and Park Care groups in the ACT and surrounding NSW.

Our activities cover urban, peri-urban, rural and conservation landscapes in and around the Molonglo catchment.

We are Nature's Champions

We stand up for a healthy environment for everyone's future.

We facilitate, develop, design and deliver best practice inter-connected and adaptive natural resource and landscape management programs.

We engage communities and collaborate with government and other organisations to raise awareness and implement practical initiatives with positive environmental outcomes.

We put forward evidence-based solutions and innovative ideas for how we can live in harmony with the natural world, treading lightly on the planet.

Our strategic Approach

Our holistic approach recognises the importance of ecological health and resilience that is interdependent with diverse social perspectives, values, and connections.

We work with rural and urban landholders and the wider community to care for natural resources, in the interests of our members.

Members and Volunteers

Members benefit from the flow-on effects of government, corporate and community partnerships linking neighbouring regions for extended landscape-scale outcomes associated with increased biodiversity and productivity values.

Members also benefit from the sharing of resources and knowledge that evolves with extended regional networks for the enhancement of strategic biodiversity corridors and stepping-stones for connectivity of habitats and species.

Our members steer the direction we take and the services we offer. We aim to facilitate stewardship through community engagement projects in collaboration with our member groups to attract volunteers from the wider community. Joining one of our member groups is the best way to get involved with us. The groups can provide information, advice and updates on activities and projects in their respective focus areas.

Molonglo Environmental Heritage Fund:

Molonglo Conservation Group operates a public fund. Gifts made to the fund of $2 or more are tax deductible. Donations of gifts of money or property to the fund are invited for the environmental purposes of Molonglo Conservation Group: to build knowledge and capabilities into the design and management of programs that improve the health, resilience and productivity of natural resources; to improve the understanding of our landscapes and community capabilities; and to improve community capabilities by harnessing the best available knowledge to enhance the care and management of landscapes.

We exist to strengthen the health of communities and ecosystems for mutual benefit. Through our work we build a more harmonious and helpful relationship between people and nature, for everyone's future.
